JEREMY M. WINE,

Plaintiff,

v.

WILLIAM POLLARD, et al.

Defendants.

ORDER

08-cv-173-bbc

---

On November 24, 2008 this court denied plaintiff's motions for extensions of his briefing deadlines in both of these cases, relying on the November 19, 2008 report from the Racine Correctional Institution that plaintiff had been offered access to his legal materials but had refused to accept them. On November 25, 2008, this court received plaintiff's November 21, 2008 response to RCI's report in which he claimed that the report was a lie and that RCI staff intentionally was treating him differently from other similarly situated prisoners with regard to his legal materials. See dkt. 83 in the '072 case, dkt. 45 in the '173 case.

There is no need to resolve plaintiff's explicit claim of false statements and implicit claim of retaliation. At this point, all that is necessary is to deem plaintiff's letter to be his request for access to his legal materials, which RCI should provide to him with all reasonable haste. If plaintiff wishes to pursue his claim of retaliation for filing lawsuits, then he has to file a new lawsuit.

Plaintiff's current deadline for responding to defendants' November 10 motion for summary judgment in the '072 case is December 10, 2008. I will extend that three weeks, to December 31, 2008, to give plaintiff the benefit of the time lost prior to his current request for access to his legal materials. Defendants may have until January 14, 2009 within which to file a reply.

There is no summary judgment motion pending in the '173 case and such motions may be filed until December 15, 2008. Therefore, there is no actual need for briefing deadline extensions in that case.

ORDER

It is ORDERED that plaintiff's motion for an extension in the '072 case is GRANTED IN PART and DENIED IN PART, and his motion for an extension in the '173) is DENIED.

Entered this 1st day of December, 2008.
